Snow Covers State Again; Cold Still Grips The East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter spread a new white blanket of snow over Pennsylvania Tuesday as much as five inches thick and the thermometer hovered close to zero with predictions of up to 15 degrees below Wednesday.

Highs in the teens were the most promised Wednesday, with additional snow flurries and a few snow showers.

Despite the bitter cold, some thawing was noted in the southeastern part of the state, although the temperature never reached more than 27 in Philadelphia. The sun came out a few times and helped melt some snow from partially cleared highways.

The thawing didn't last long. Temperatures dropped quickly.

Cuts Supplies

In Pittsburgh, Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. announced it will cut natural gas supplies to industrial plants in its area by 60 per cent, beginning at 8 a.m. Wednesday, because of the extremely cold weather. It was only the third time since 1951 the firm had taken such action.

Erie and the area west of it got five inches of new snow Tuesday. Butler got four.

A heavy snow squall hit the Pittsburgh area Tuesday as early morning motorists headed for work, slowing traffic. A similar squall enveloped Philadelphia's Main Line in the afternoon for about five minutes. It was so dense hundreds of motorists home-bound were forced to stop and wait.

Fog slowed highway travel and shut down Philadelphia's International Airport from midnight Monday until 2 a.m. Tuesday.

Cold Continues

Piercing cold weather held the East and Midwest in an icy grasp Tuesday. It may not let go until Friday.

Temperatures hit 21 degrees below zero at Devils Lake, N.D., and 33 below at Old Town, Maine. Zero to -15 readings were common in the northern Midwest and parts of New England.

Forecasters predicted an early return to subzero temperatures from the Upper Plains and the Mississippi Valley through New England and the Atlantic states. At noon, Huron, S.D., had warmed up to a frigid -22 degrees while Anchorage, Alaska, recorded 38.

Midwinter's longest and most severe cold snap gripped New York and Maine in bitter weather for the sixth straight day.

Cold Warnings

No letup was in sight for the area from the Great Plains to the Atlantic seaboard. Cold wave warnings indicated the arctic air from Canada would move during the weekend.

The leading edge of the arctic air mass Tuesday extended from

New Jersey across northern Georgia into western Texas. Subzero temperatures also were recorded in Nebraska and northern Illinois. The sub teens prevailed from New England into Kansas, while the 50s and 60s were common from the Carolinas into the Gulf region. Some 70s were noted in Florida.

Needy To Obtain Variety Of Foods

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a month or so, low-income persons who get free food from the federal government will have a tastier variety—including meat, eggs and other items.

That was announced Tuesday by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman in line with President Kennedy's order to double the food the government is providing for the nation's needy.

At present, food being distributed includes flour, corn meal, nonfat dry milk, rice, lard and gravy. These are acquired under farm price support programs as surplus items.

Under Freeman's expanded plan, foods will be purchased and added to the distribution list. They will include canned pork and gravy, dried beans and dried whole egg solids.

There were reports that Kennedy is considering asking Congress to authorize quickly extra money for unemployed.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg told of the President's concern about the jobless after talking with him Monday. He said Kennedy may have something to say about this at his news conference Wednesday.

While unemployment and the needy are not in all cases related, the two areas are closely linked. Kennedy's actions in these fields are steps to carry out his campaign promise that he would move quickly to relieve the distress in areas of chronic unemployment.

About 3.5 million needy persons in about one-third of the nation's counties now are receiving food from the federal government. Distribution is made through state and local welfare agencies.

The foods are distributed only in those states and counties which assume the responsibility and cost of determining who is eligible and making actual distributions. During the fiscal year which ended last June 30, the Agriculture Department donated 525 million pounds of food, costing about $60 million, to the needy.

Freeman said foods purchased under the expanded program will be made available to state relief agencies by late February or early March.

The ships were described as freighters. A hole was inflicted in the side of one vessel. There were no casualties.

Explosions Start Fires At Refinery

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A series of explosions touched off a big fire at a refinery on the industry-crowded Houston ship channel Tuesday night.

First reports indicated at least three persons were injured at the Signal Oil & Refining Co. plant. A fire at the same plant a year ago injured seven.

The flames engulfed two huge storage tanks near the refinery's waterfront dock. Several other storage tanks were nearby.

Residents in the area reported hearing one loud blast and several smaller ones.

Electricity was out to many homes and businesses nearby.

CCC Bill Okayed By Committee

HARRISBURG (AP) — A resolution asking Congress to reestablish the Civilian Conservation Corps was approved Tuesday by the Senate's Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations.

The proposal, which will require House approval, was not brought up for a vote during the Senate session.

The idea was proposed Monday as a weapon against juvenile delinquency and unemployment. The old corps was in operation during the 1930s.

$8 Million Jet Bomber Burns; 3 Die

GOLDSBORO, N. C. (AP) — A huge $8 million Air Force jet bomber, striving mightily in distress to return to its base from a vigilance mission, crashed in flames near here early Tuesday killing three of its eight crew members. The Air Force said the eight-jet bomber of the Strategic Air Command carried two unarmed nuclear weapons which did not detonate.

Maj. Walter F. Tulloch, 45, commander of the B52G, the biggest type of plane operated by the Air Force, radioed nearby Seymour Johnson Air Force Base to prepare for an emergency landing. He told the base the plane, which had been airborne several hours, was having emergency fuel difficulties.

One of the unarmed nuclear devices was dropped safely by parachute. Then five of the eight crewmen parachuted. The plane burst into flames and smashed into a plowed field, 15 miles north of Goldsboro, spewing the burning wreckage over two farm fields.

The Air Force said the second unarmed nuclear weapon was recovered from the wreckage. A spokesman said there was never any danger of a nuclear explosion and that the area was free of any radioactivity.

Air Force firemen and firefighters from 10 rural companies battled the flames several hours before they were extinguished. The entire area was sealed off. The Air Force said the fire posed danger from highly explosive materials in the nuclear device. It declined to elaborate on the device.

The plane was on an airborne alert training mission, part of plans calling for Strategic Air Command bombers carrying nuclear devices to be airborne at all times as a defense measure.

Crucial Test Awaits House Rules Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—A leadership-backed plan to inject more Kennedy program backers into the House Rules Committee moved Tuesday a step closer to the crucial test and possible death.

The decisive vote comes Thursday, when the House, after an hour of floor debate, takes up the plan.

It cleared the Rules Committee by a 6-2 vote, with all the balloting done by Democrats. The lone Republican present, Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Ohio, didn't vote. His only GOP colleague, Rep. B. Carroll Reece of Tennessee, was absent. There are two Republican vacancies.

The two dissenting votes came from Chairman Howard W. Smith of Virginia and William M. Colmer of Mississippi, who often in the past have sided with the four Republicans to block liberal bills from clearing the committee.

The plan backed by Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas would break the deadlock by adding two more Democrats—presumably liberals—and one more Republican. If all 15 vote the way Rayburn has them pegged, the coalition then would be on the short end of an 8-7 count, and President Kennedy's legislative program would have smoother sailing.

Rayburn proposed the membership increase with the idea of assuring that legislation approved by standing committees would get a chance to be considered by the full House membership without being sidetracked in the Rules Committee.

"Beauties" Mother Gets Stiff Fine

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Juvenile Court judge handed Lillian Fratanotio Tuesday — the stiffest possible penalty for mistreating her "sleeping beauty" daughters by illegally feeding them sleep-inducing drugs.

Judge Albert A. Wolman sentenced the petite, mother of five to a year in the workhouse and fined her $500 and costs he said would amount to more than $1,200.

Then he told her: "Unless a great change takes place in your personality, you should not be trusted with the upbringing of your children."

In a strongly worded, five-page statement, the judge said psychiatrist had found Mrs. Fratanotio, 29, was emotionally immature—not sick or mentally disturbed. He said she needs to continue psychiatric treatment.

Her daughters Bernadette, 3, and Venita, 6, were in comas that brought them near death while Mrs. Fratanotio was "basking in the limelight of national publicity," Judge Wolman said.

"Probably you did not willingly desire to harm your children—but you were so thrilled by the publicity and limelight—you found it was too good a show to give it up," he said.

A jury convicted the woman Dec. 6 of ill-treating the little girls by giving them barbiturates and other unauthorized medicines. The case of Bernadette, whose prolonged coma was a mystery for 11 months until blood tests revealed the presence of barbiturates last August, and of Venita, who joined her sister at a hospital last July, had been widely publicized.

Now quite normal, the girls are at a Catholic charities home until the court decides on permanent custody.

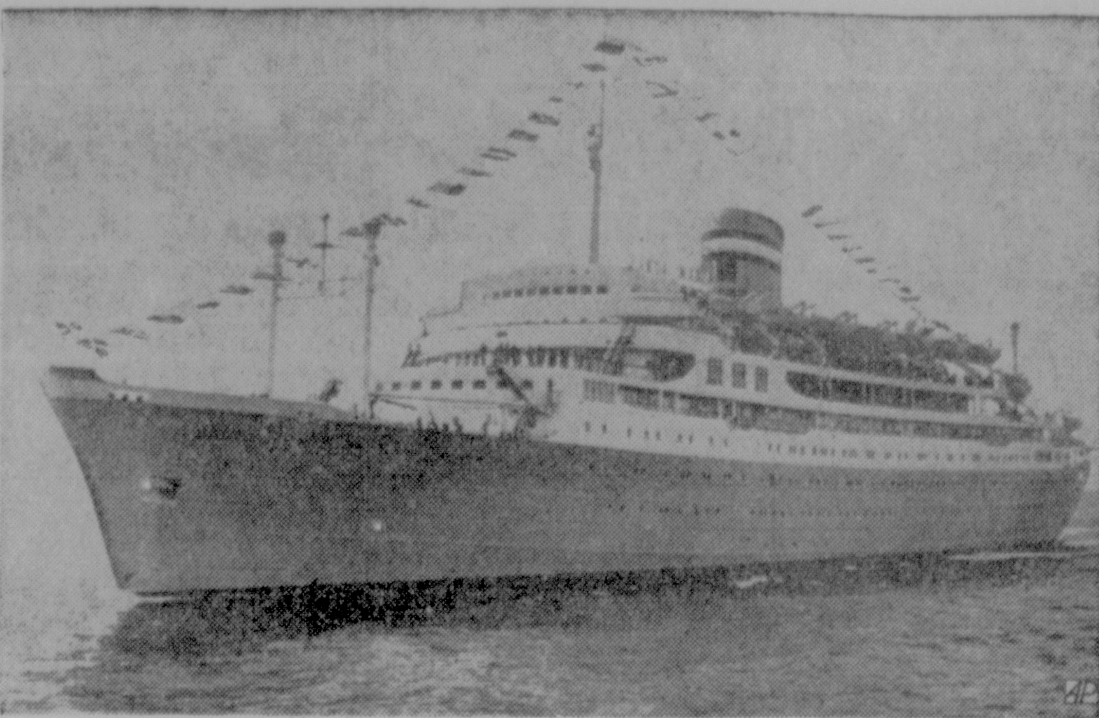

Walter Proposes Appointments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., Tuesday recommended the appointment of one postmaster and four acting postmasters in Northampton County, Pa.

The recommendations were sent to new Postmaster General James E. Day.

Recommended for postmaster at Nazareth was Luther D. Clevell of Nazareth R. D. 1.

Recommended for acting postmaster in their home communities were Donald P. Fischer, 516 Broadhead Ave., Bethlehem; Richard D. Hetrick, 907 Porter St., Easton; Harry D. Hess, 453 Broadway, Bangor, and Ernest W. Parsons, 18 Westbrooke Ave., Pen Argyl.

JFK's 'Message' Monday; Plans Live News Sessions

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will deliver his State of the Union message to Congress at 12:30 p.m. Monday, the White House announced Tuesday.

The time and date for Kennedy's first appearance as President before a joint session of the Senate and House was fixed at a White House meeting with Democratic congressional leaders.

The message, as outlined by presidential news secretary Pierre Salinger, will set forth Kennedy's assessment of world and domestic situations as he sees them after his first week in office.

It will be followed during the next couple of weeks by a series of messages presenting views and recommendations on the nation's economy, the budget, and specific legislative proposals.

After his meeting with congressional Democrats, Kennedy resumed a round of foreign discussions that began Monday.

Tuesday's conference was devoted to disarmament problems and prospects for obtaining an agreement outlawing nuclear tests. It brought together the President, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, disarmament chief John J. McCloy, and other top advisers.

Live News Meetings

Kennedy Wednesday night will hold his first news conference as President. It will be carried live on major radio and television networks starting at 6 p. m. Eastern Standard Time. The White House has announced that subsequent news conferences will be held alternately at 10 a. m. and 4 p. m.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson told newsmen after the congressional leadership meeting with Kennedy that the session included a general discussion of problems facing the nation. Mainly, however, he said it was devoted to setting up arrangements for regular weekly meetings of party leaders and the President.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, predicting harmonious relations between Kennedy and Congress, has expressed belief Kennedy will include Republican leaders in briefings on vital international matters.

Salinger told reporters that Kennedy's economic message, giving a detailed review of the situation as the President sees it, will be one of the earlier separate messages going to Congress.

Before he left office last Friday, former President Eisenhower sent Congress three annual messages: State of the Union, budget, and economic. Eisenhower commented he thought the law requiring him to submit these annual messages was rather silly.

Antlerless Deer Bill Introduced

HARRISBURG (AP) — Legislation was introduced in the House Tuesday to limit antlerless deer hunting seasons to one every three years.

The proposal was sponsored by Reps. Harris G. Breth, D-Clearfield, an outdoors writer; William B. Curwood, D-Luzerne, chairman of the Game Committee; J. Russell Eschback, P-Pike, and Harry M. Elvey, R-Fulton.

when Kennedy could be expected to come along later with his own recommendations.

No Decision

Johnson said no decision was reached as to which of Kennedy's legislative proposals will have priority. The President has said he wants speedy action on measures to provide medical care for the aged, aid for education, housing, minimum wage, and aid for economically depressed areas.

He also has talked of easing interest rates, revising the labor laws, spurring economic development, and expanding national resources projects.

Demos Plan Vote On Tax Tonight

HARRISBURG (AP) — House Democrats Tuesday made plans to bring Gov. David L. Lawrence's tax proposals to a vote at a Wednesday midnight session in the face of Republican threats of no support this week.

After two hours of counting noses, Rep. Stephen McCann, Democratic floor leader, decided he had enough votes to roll the proposals.

"We will proceed straight ahead to a midnight session," McCann declared following a closed-door meeting with Gov. Lawrence.

But he declined to say whether he had enough Democrats lined up to secure the necessary 106 votes for passing measures in the House.

However, he said he expected 108 Democrats to show up for Wednesday's session and the 12:01 a.m. meeting on Thursday.

McCann indicated he had no Republican commitments to vote for the bills this week.

No GOP Votes

Rep. Willard F. Agnew Jr., Republican floor leader, said: "I can't speak for all the Republican members, but as far as I know there will be no Republican votes for any program this week."

Agnew said House Republicans would meet tonight to discuss possible amendments to the administration budget proposals.

"I don't know why the administration wants to pass these things before the end of January unless they want to get them through before there is any adverse reaction back home," Agnew said.

Republicans were disgruntled when McCann announced the post-midnight session. Earlier, it had appeared that the Democratic majority would adjourn until next Monday and take up the tax program then.

Twenty bills implementing some of Lawrence's budget proposals were given preliminary approval before the House adjourned until 1 p.m. Wednesday.

They include a two-cent increase in the five-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax to raise $74 million; 80 per cent acceleration of some business taxes to provide $82 million; reduction or elimination of commissions for cigarette and sales tax collections to raise $23.7 million and a $300 million increase in the borrowing limit of the Highway and Bridge Authority.

In the Senate an impending floor battle on proposed fair housing legislation was put off until next week.

Request Delay

Sen. Robert D. Fleming, R-Allegheny, requested the delay in order to allow several GOP senators to work amendments to the bipartisan bill that would end discrimination in the sale or rental of housing because of race, religion or national origin.

The Senate adjourned until next

'Not Pirates' Leader Says Of Hijackers

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—The $16-million hijacked passenger liner Santa Maria eluded three navies during a day of frantic search of the Caribbean Tuesday and an exiled Portuguese political leader said it was seized as a political blow against his country's dictatorship.

"We are not pirates, only politicians," said Gen. Humberto Delgado, a defeated and exiled presidential candidate, in Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Despite appeals by Delgado not to interfere, U. S., British and Dutch ships and planes crisscrossed the Caribbean and adjacent Atlantic areas in search of the 20,906-ton liner.

The ship is carrying 950 crewmen and passengers—26 or more of them Americans.

Delgado said all passengers were safe but warned that the rebel band in control will resist if they are attacked.

He said the Santa Maria was commandeered Monday by Capt. Henrique Malta Galvao, an exiled Portuguese author and adventurer, who apparently boarded the vessel at Curacao, Dutch Antilles, one of its regular stops.

To Free Passengers

Delgado, who ran for president in Portugal in 1958, said he received a message from Galvao promising to "disembark the passengers at the first neutral port that gives us that possibility without confiscation."

Asked what port this might be, Delgado laughed and answered: "That's something I cannot tell you under the circumstances."

He added that Galvao took control of the vessel under Delgado's authority as leader of a national independent liberation junta.

Delgado said he had sent telegrams to the American and British ambassadors to Brazil, John Moors Cabot and Sir Geoffrey Wallinger, urging they tell their governments "the Santa Maria case does not represent mutiny or piracy but is an appropriation of a Portuguese transport by Portuguese men for Portuguese political purposes."

"I ask insistently that your government does not interfere in the case," Delgado added in the telegrams.

A U. S. Navy spokesman said earlier the sea hunt for the Santa Maria was being carried out under the well-defined terms of international law governing piracy and insurance aboard ship.

'Fact Accomplished'

Delgado quoted Galvao's radio message as saying "the ship's crew accepted the occupation as a fact accomplished (a fact accomplished), is maintaining discipline and, in major part, the passengers are enthusiastically with us."

Galvao earlier radioed an all's well message to the world's newspapers. He called the seizure—carried out by about 70 armed men who killed the ship's third officer—the first step in a movement to overthrow Portugal's dictator, Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar.

Brazilian officials said they intend to abide by international and Brazilian law in case the Santa Maria puts into a Brazilian port. Their statement did not appear to close the door completely to receiving the hijackers under political asylum.

College Room Rent-Bill Okayed

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Senate unanimously approved a bill Tuesday which will allow increased state college room rent to be applied against the schools' bonded indebtedness.

The measure now goes to the House. It was the only bill passed in the Senate Tuesday.

Sen. George B. Stevenson, R-Clinton, a sponsor of the proposal, said the authorization was needed and was overlooked in earlier legislation.

The General Assembly earlier approved an increase in dormitory rent for the colleges to pay off the expense of construction.

Stevenson said the law provided for the money from the increased rents to be impounded in a fund but did not authorize payments from the fund to reduce the indebtedness.

Lawrence Gas Tax Opposed

HARRISBURG (AP) — A group opposed to Gov. David L. Lawrence's proposed two-cent gasoline tax boost said Tuesday the administration was trying to engage in what it called a wild highways spending spree.

W. F. Richardson, executive secretary of the Associated Petroleum Industries of Pennsylvania, issued a statement criticizing Lawrence's proposed $475 million motor license fund budget. The budget features a proposed tax boost from five to seven cents a gallon on gasoline.

Richardson said the program was "the wildest spending spree ever dreamed up for Pennsylvania's highway taxpayers to bear."

If Lawrence gets the money he has requested, Richardson said the Highways Department would have "an impressive number of additional dollars."

PIRATE LEADER—Capt. Henrique Galvao, 65, a former Portuguese army captain and an enemy of Portuguese dictator Antonio Salazar, is leader of a band of 70 armed men which hijacked the liner Santa Maria in the Caribbean.

2-Ton Truck Lugs Choir's Equipment

IT WILL take a two-ton truck to carry all the equipment responsible for the special lighting and sound the University of Tulsa Modern Choir will have during their appearance at East Stroudsburg High's new auditorium, Sunday at 3 p.m.

Altogether, there will be lights totaling 15,000 watts, according to Gary Horn, member of the three-man light and sound crew. "Our power output is so great," he added, "we must send two power circuits ahead to be hooked up before we can give our concerts. Then we require a signed statement saying that a licensed electrician has performed the task."

Bill Giorda, another member of the crew, gave a brief run-down on what else goes into the truck. "We have 22 big lights plus 2 sections of strip lighting, a 155 lb. dimmer board and a 50 lb. auxilary for backlighting and silhouettes, 5,000 ft. of heavy duty cable, 100 ft. of pipe, four 50 lb. bases and two 35 lb. bases for the lights and the sound equipment.

Keep In Contact

The sound equipment includes a remote mixer so that sound can be controlled by a crew member sitting in the audience. There is also a telephone set-up so members can keep in contact during the performance.

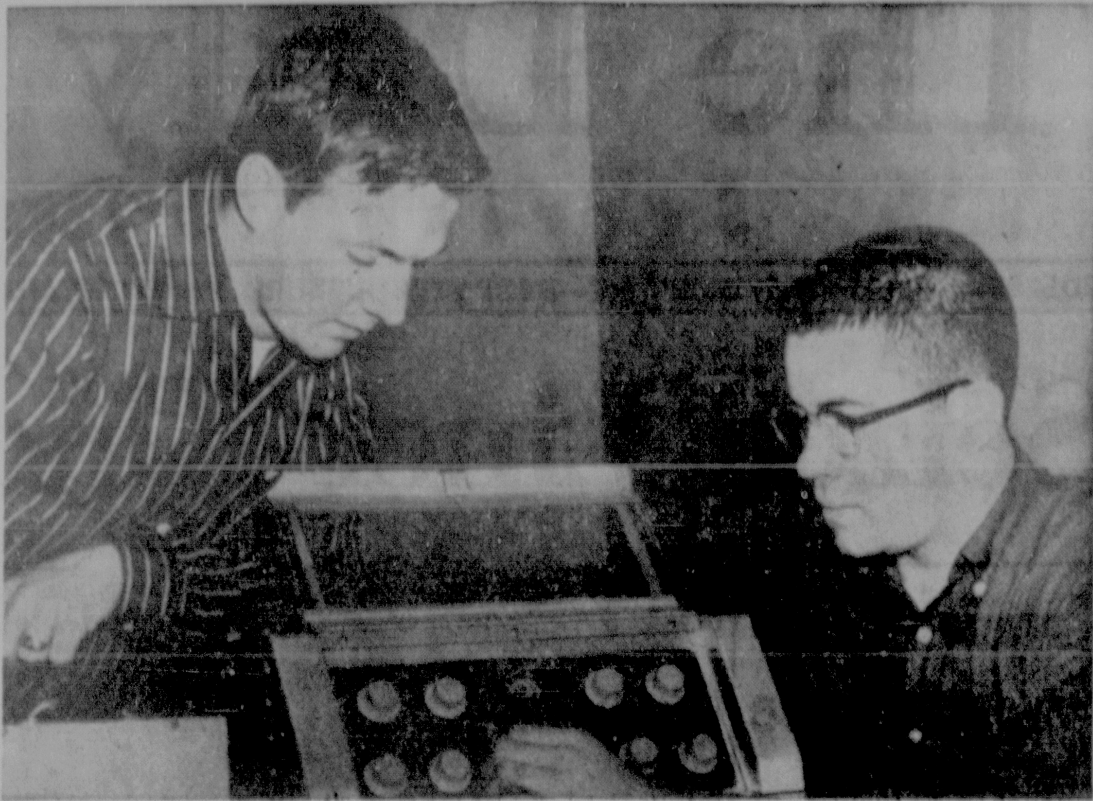

The equipment is all portable, Horn adds, so that they can cope with the varying conditions from stage to stage.

300 To 3,000

"We sing in churches, high schools and gymnasiums, and in places seating from 300 to 3,000," Horn said. "Sometimes stages are too small and we have to put the lights out front, and sometimes we don't have a stage."

Programming, or plotting, the lighting takes up most of the time before the tour, Giorda said. The crew, with Richard Chronister, TU piano instructor, did the job this year. They made a tape recording of the choir program, and played it in the campus auditorium while working out lighting, coloring, and other special effects.

Miss Helen Garlington, drama head of Ecorse High School, Detroit, Mich., visited TU last year to train and advise on the lighting for the program. She has worked with the Fred Waring Pennsylvanians for several years.

GARY HORN and Bill Wise of the University of Tulsa Modern Choir sound crew check the controls to make sure each soloist will get the right reading. The choir will appear at East Stroudsburg High's auditorium, Sunday at 3 p.m. The concert is for the benefit of the Tom L. Waring Scholarship Fund.

400 Enroll At Agric. Session

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)

—Approximately 400 persons registered Tuesday for opening sessions of a four-day staff training conference of all personnel engaged in agricultural extension work.

Dr. Herbert R. Albrecht, director of the Pennsylvania Agricultural Extension Service, is presiding at the sessions, which will include a banquet Thursday evening and a final conference Friday.

All county agents, extension home economists and extension specialists resident at the university are among those in the training course.

'Tony' Goes To Work

LONDON (AP)—Anthony Armstrong-Jones went back to work Monday, 11 months after he shut his photographic studio and married Princess Margaret.

He was a little nervous and, like men all over the world, he had a parking problem.

Traffic Warden No. 69 said to Tony's chauffeur: "Sorry, but you can't stop here."

The driver had parked Princess Margaret's black sedan smack in front of the Council of Industrial Design's nine-story building in busy Haymarket and was waiting to take Tony home for lunch, having previously delivered him at 9:45 a.m.

The royal chauffeur went around the block and Tony, leaving by a side door, popped into the car and roared off for lunch with his wife at Kensington Palace. He was walking up the steps there as Big Ben boomed one. An hour and four minutes later he was back at work. Including those 64 minutes, he put in a 7-hour and 40-minute day—"a full stint," another official called it.

At his own request, it's a job without pay, but with an expense account.

Specifically, the job is: "An ad-

Orders O & W Claims Paid

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan approved distribution by receivers yesterday of the defunct New York, Ontario and Western Railway Co. of $8,805,149 to cover claims by the government and creditors.

Thus was climaxed 22 years of litigation involving the bankruptcy, receivership and sale of the Ontario and Western.

James B. Kilsheimer III, and Jacob Grumet, the receivers, turned over to U.S. Atty. S. Hazard Gillespie Jr., a check for $3,995,013 in settlement of tax claims totaling $7.7 million for the years 1954 to 1957.

The remaining monies will be distributed among the road's creditors, including various municipalities in New York State, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey, and 175 railroads.

Monday's final chapter in the long drawn proceedings closed the books on original claims against the road by the government and creditors which exceeded $77 million.

Keystone Farmer Degree

NEWFOUNDLAND — The Keystone Farmer Degree, highest given on a State level by the Future Farmers of America, was awarded to Floyd R. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Thomas, Madisonville, R.D. 1, Moscow, at Harrisburg recently.

The degree given to the local youth, who is a senior at Southern Wayne Joint School and president of Greene-Dreher Chapter, F.F.A., is given for outstanding leadership and work done in the F.F.A.

Floyd enrolled at the high school in Newfoundland in 1957 because of the excellent vocational agriculture course at the school. During his four years here, he has completed thirteen supervised farming programs under the leadership of Clayton F. Northup, vocational agriculture teacher now on leave, and Carroll A. Curtis, present advisor.

Floyd has been active in the FFA for four years, and has held the office of vice president in 1958 and 1959, and the office of president this year. He was student speaker at the annual Father and Son banquet in 1958. He has been a member of the Parliamentary Procedure Team for three years, is a member of the Southern Wayne Student Council, and of the school's volleyball and basketball team. He is a member of the Madisonville 4-H Club, where he was chosen outstanding 4-H boy of Lackawanna County in 1958. He is a member of the Madisonville Christian Church and has held the office of secretary for seven years.

Fire Destroys Trailer

MCILHANEY—Fire destroyed a house trailer owned by Boyd Titus and occupied by Lloyd Smith about 12:20 a.m. Monday. Damage was estimated at $2,000.

No one was home when the fire broke out. It was reported to the West End Fire Co., Brodheadsville, by a neighbor.

Firemen said the structure was in flames when they reached the scene.

High pressure lines froze in temperatures estimated at 16 to 18 degrees below zero, hampering the efforts of firemen to extinguish the blaze.

Referee's Decision Upheld

(Record Harrisburg Bureau) HARRISBURG — The State Unemployment Compensation Board of Review yesterday upheld a referee's decision denying jobless pay benefits to Harry A. Sheldon, 151 Barnum St., East Stroudsburg.

Board records show that the local employment office offered Sheldon a job referral, that he reported to the prospective employer for an interview and was given an application form to fill out and return. However, Sheldon reported that he "lost" the application form and did not return to the employer. The board noted that a week after the interview Sheldon was again instructed to report to the referral employer and upon reporting was told that he "would be called when needed."

In its decision the Board of Review held:

"One who seeks benefits must be ready, willing and able at all times to accept suitable employment. Claimant's failure to return to the employer after he had lost the application which the employer had previously given him indicates a lack of good faith in his desire to become employed. Accordingly, claimant is not eligible to receive benefits."

In another case the board granted compensation to an employee of the General Flooring Company, Stroudsburg.

The board said that benefits were approved for Harry B. Claus, Leighton, RD 3, who was laid off due to lack of work. The case was appealed to the board by the company attending that Claus was "self-employed."

"It is quite clear that the claimant was hired to work for this employer on an hourly basis and to perform assignments that were given to him by the employer. Under these circumstances, we must conclude the claimant was not self-employed but was an employee of the General Flooring Company. Accordingly, benefits are granted," the board ruled.

Lost Section Of Penn-Can Not Budgeted

SCRANTON — The City Planning Commission has expressed disappointment that the "lost section" of the Penn-Can Highway was not included in specific budget recommendations of Gov. David L. Lawrence.

Joseph A. Kane termed the section proposed between Dunmore Interchange, now under construction, and Tannersville as the "lost section" in a letter to Governor Lawrence.

"We did look for more specific recommendations on the 'lost section' of the Penn-Can Highway from the Dunmore Interchange to Tannersville," he wrote. "We have conferences in progress with the Department of Highways to move this section into the preliminary engineering stage."

Bernard B. Blier, CPC executive director, explained that while work is proceeding on other parts of the Penn-Can, no action is being taken on this link beyond developing a proposed "line" the limited access highway is to follow.

The Governor urged in his budget message that the General Assembly "permit us to go forward on such projects as the following which are of tremendous importance to our economy: The Anthracite Expressway from Scranton to Harrisburg, the Cumberland Valley Expressway from Harrisburg to Hagerstown, the Delaware Expressway from Morrisville through Philadelphia, the Keystone Shortway from Sharon to Stroudsburg and the Erie-West Virginia Freeway."

Weather Continues To Make News Despite 'Corrigan Way'

By TONY CESARE
Record Staff Writer

WEATHER continues to make the news. But it hasn't reached the point of insensibility yet. People KNOW that it is cold.

And as the temperatures tumbled the tempers flared to new heights. What is commonly misunderstood, except by experienced weather observers, is that such phenomena as the occurrence of this cold condition will persist.

What we are observing is a cold spell. When one kind of weather is established, it sometimes has a tendency to continue for several days, weathermen say. Chances are that whatever the weather is, it will continue in that trend for a number of days. Today's weather is not independent of yesterday's, they report.

Some Claim

The situations arose as the Poconos encountered new cold waves not experienced by the modern generation. Grandpa's old saying that "winters aren't what they used to be," have fallen to the wayside along with the mercury.

Hunters Reported Pleased At Absence Of Signs

HUNTERS in Pennsylvania were pleased, last Fall, at the absence of no hunting signs in large blocks of properties in agricultural areas. The Game Commission safety zone program, largely responsible for the change, evidently found favor with many farmers, too.

Almost complete records show that owners of nearly 5,700 farms which totaled well over 1,002,000 acres agreed to permit open hunting on their lands during the 1960 hunting season as the result of the program. Last year's figure almost doubles that for 1959 when the placards were opened, or kept open to public hunting, 3,841 rural properties aggregating 575,109 acres.

The acceptance of the safety zone program has increased each year since 1955, when it was instituted. The efforts of Game Protectors, their deputies and sportsmen were largely responsible for its success. Through this program signs provided by the Commission warn that hunting for or shooting game within 150 yards of buildings is unlawful.

Great credit should go to the participating farmers, who often would have permitted public hunting in past years if assured that their families, livestock and poultry would not be endangered by promiscuous shooting near dwellings and outbuildings.

11,233 Properties

Opening more than one million acres to public hunting in 1960 was in addition to nearly 1,010,000 huntable acres available on 11,233 properties in 165 Farm Game Projects located in 50 counties of the state. The two programs have proved a boon to hunters who, in years past, have experienced difficulty in finding a place to gun for cottontail rabbits and ringneck pheasants — game which mainly inhabits farmlands of the state.

It was necessary to rule that, to participate in the safety zone program, a property must contain 50 or more acres. In addition to the protection that signs afford, participating farmers receive the Game Commissions official monthly magazine, GAME NEWS, for one year.

County Bond Sales Down In 1960

PURCHASES of U. S. Savings Bonds by Pennsylvanians during December were $32 million bringing the total for last year up to $402 million, a gain of approximately $3 million over the preceding year, reports Charles S. Krumrine, state chairman of the savings bonds organization.

For Monroe county purchases of Series E and H Savings Bonds during 1960 were $115,330 as compared with $149,451 in 1959. E. H. Wyckoff is savings bonds chairman for the county.

Year-end figures for the nation indicate that Americans added $578 million to their holdings of Series E and H bonds during 1960. This brings total holdings to $43,137 million — an all-time high.

Cash sales for the nation amounted to $4,350 million last year — a gain of $30 million over 1959.

Krumrine says he is looking forward to 1961 sales prospects with optimism because of the special emphasis that will be placed on the 20th Anniversary year of the bond program.

During 1961 the Treasury Department will use the Anniversary theme to create greater public awareness of the success of the Savings Bonds program, and to salute various volunteer groups which have been active participants since 1941.

Some people claim that long-ago winters have been much colder. Others persist that the weather (climate) is getting warmer. The old-fashioned winters have faded, some claim.

But today's weather, with near-record snowfalls and record breaking mercury readings doesn't hold true. Some climatologists and meteorologists seem to abide by the rule that winters aren't any warmer or colder. They claim that only a minute change, if any, takes place over a long period (fifty years or so) of time.

Some particular days or weeks are colder (or warmer) whatever the case may be but overall winters don't change much.

The big question which still lingers is this: Are the winters of today colder than those down through the years?

Meteorologists say no. There is no reason to suppose that sudden changes of climate have occurred. The stability of climates down through the ages is evident. The meteorologists show that Italy still grows grapes and figs; Palestine still grows olives and silkworms are still grown in China.

Can't Convince

But you can't convince area motorists. The debate still continues. With all types of battery, radiator and generator troubles, the motorist can't afford time to argue the point.

One motorist said he was playing it safe. His radiator liquids were set for a minus 50 degree reading.

Records? Well, Dr. C. G. Cross of East Stroudsburg claims it was 40 degrees below zero on Jan. 5, 1904. You can set your sights on this mark and start from there. "Start"—this is what motorists are trying to do.

Ex-Resident Of Mount Bethel Dies

CHARLES M. Price, 79, a former resident of Mt. Bethel, died unexpectedly Monday morning at the home of Mrs. Betsy Roberts, Mountainhome, where he had resided since August of last year. He was the father of John Price of Stroudsburg.

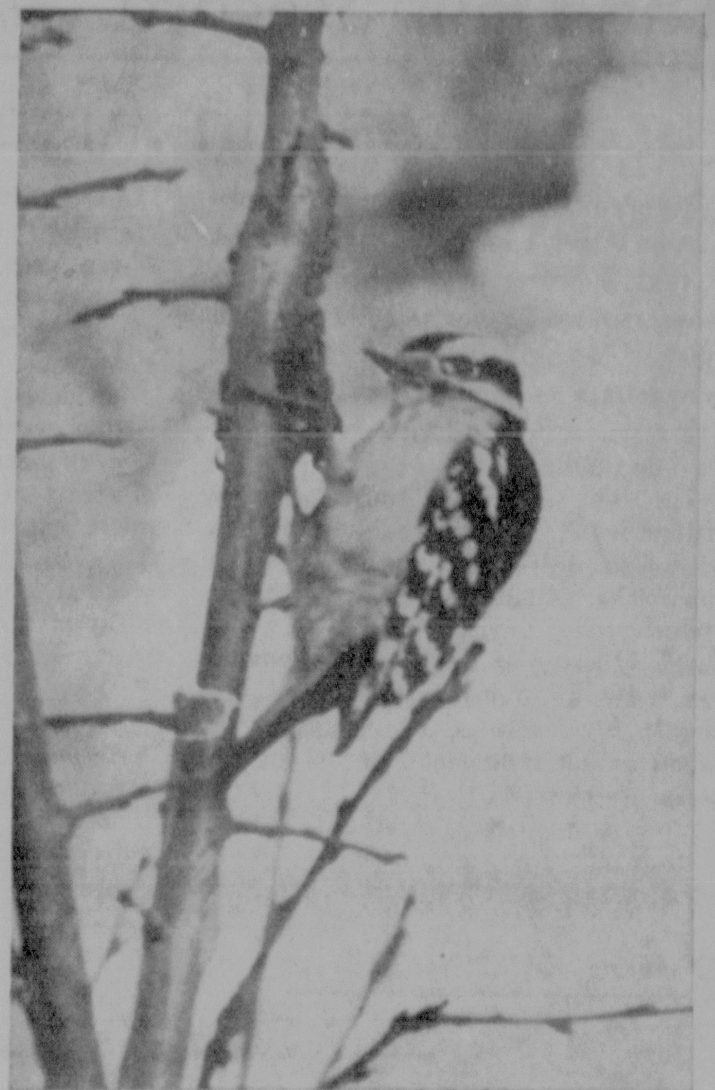

Mr. Price was born in Canada, the son of Madison and Christina Meyer Price. His wife, Anna Wittaker Price, died in 1940.

He was formerly employed by the Lehigh Portland Cement plant at Sandt's Eddy and for the last 10 years that he worked by the Pennsylvania Dept. of Highways. He retired about seven years ago.

Survivors include two other sons, Glenn, Mt. Bethel, RD, and Ward Price, Jacksonville, Fla.; a sister, Mrs. Emily C. Bunker, Great Falls, Mont.; six grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 1 p.m. Friday in the Reed Funeral Home, Johnsonville. Dr. J. O. Reagle will officiate and burial will be in Centerville Cemetery, Stone Church.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday.

Break In Algeria

President de Gaulle's recent referendum on Algeria seems to have brought a break, however tentative, in the impasse between France and the Algerian rebel leadership. The FLN is offering to negotiate and that, at least, is a positive response to the initiative taken by Gen. de Gaulle.

The rebels, however, have set conditions which indicate their differences with Gen. de Gaulle have not lessened since last summer's fruitless talks at Melun outside Paris. At that time, the FLN refused Gen. de Gaulle's demand for a cease-fire prior to negotiations. He, in turn, refused to recognize the rebels as sole representatives of the Algerian people.

Now, the FLN says, there will be neither talks nor peace if Gen. de Gaulle tried to set up in Algeria the "provisional institutions" authorized by the majority "yes" vote in the referendum. These were to give Algeria an interim home-rule pending a second referendum on independence or association with France.

No doubt the rebels suspect Gen. de Gaulle wants to blunt FLN's revolutionary appeal by permitting Algerian Moslems to set up an internal government that would reflect their 9-1 majority over Algeria's Europeans. In any event, the FLN clearly opposes any interim status that might induce the Moslem populace to retain a tie with France.

Thus the FLN's present offer to negotiate is hardly encouraging, but neither can it be dismissed out of hand. Progress would appear to depend upon the spirit of compromise in which each side approached the conference table.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Soft Coal Setback

The $150,000 appropriated by the 1959 General Assembly to construct a pilot plant for the production of highway building materials with a bituminous coal base has been put back in the General Fund and the whole project abandoned.

Legislators from southwestern Pennsylvania were enthusiastic about the proposal to use soft coal as an ingredient in the construction of blacktop highways. They believed that a new use for soft coal had been found which would help alleviate the distress felt in the bituminous fields.

Other lawmakers, who recognize the influence of the depressed state of the coal industry on the state's economy, also were enthusiastic about the proposal and the appropriation was speedily provided.

Originally, it had been estimated that the process would consume as much as 100 tons of soft coal per mile of highway, but further examination indicated that the figure would more likely be eight or 10 tons per mile which is not enough to be of appreciable help to the mining industry. Consequently, the whole idea was dropped.

Fortunately, no one suffered from the experience and the appropriation was not spent before it was discovered that the process was not all it appeared to be. The experience was, nevertheless, profitable, for it confirms the belief that there is no quick and easy solution to the ills of the mining industry. In addition, it indicates that future proposals for non-fuel uses of coal ought to be examined exhaustively before state funds are invested to back them.

The failure of this scheme, however, does not mean that the state and private agencies should stop looking for new uses for coal. Certainly, there is every reason to believe that continued experiment will turn up new uses for coal that may relieve the industry and thereby strengthen the overall economy of the state.

The Pennsylvania Story

Rosy Picture

Harrisburg — It is not likely that the 1961 Legislature will do a repeat of the agonizing and in terminable delay in clearing new state aid funds that oftentimes has plagued legislatures of recent vintage.

Legislative leaders on both sides of the aisle this year are determined that by the end of the current biennium May 31, or shortly thereafter at the latest, the thorny fiscal knot will have been untied on the multi-million dollar state aid front.

Success of this ambitious goal hinges of course largely on the outcome of tax and budget deliberations now under way following Mr. Lawrence's budgetary presentation of last week.

Few lawmakers have forgotten the merciless drubbing they received on the home front for example during that session six years ago when state aid for local school districts, hospitals and the host of similarly aided facilities and functions lagged nearly a year beyond the end of the biennium.

Many state-aided facilities even a year or two later were still in the painful recovery stage from the extended borrowing forced upon them to meet ordinary operating expenses as deadline after deadline passed.

The condition arose at that time largely because administration Democrats in control of the House in support of their fiscal program deadlocked with Senate controlling Republicans who had their own fiscal program.

That the GOP legislative bloc finally emerged the victor is now history — with blame for the delay however vigorously leveled by each on the other.

There is perhaps little room for disputing the contention of Democratic and Republican legislative leaders that in the 1955-56 session each could, with some justification, blame the other for the fiasco that took place.

The 1961 session however is a somewhat different story.

The legislative split between the House and Senate has some of the overtones as that six years ago but legislative leaders as well as rank and file members learned their bitter lesson in 1955.

You don't fiddle around with state aid to local schools, hospitals and the like on the local level — it strikes too close to home.

For this reason legislative leaders are aiming for a quick clean up on the state aid front — and after that, throwing it into the lap of the Governor.

There is one possible but not probable stumbling bloc which of course is present in every case throughout the session. It concerns use of the veto by Democratic Governor Lawrence.

Lawmakers may well wrap up such key measures as the state aid problem in good time — but a veto by the Governor could null the Legislature to the floor just as effectively as the 1955-56 split brewed its own legislative deadlock.

Reason for this is that in neither the House nor the Senate do Republicans or Democrats alone have the required two-thirds votes within their own membership to override the gubernatorial veto.

However there is nothing at this time to even remotely indicate that Mr. Lawrence this session plans any heavy use of the veto pen.

In fact sources close to the Administration indicate that the Governor is prepared to abide without excessive dispute by the will of the legislative branch — thus letting the political chips fall where they may.

As matters stand now the picture looks rosy on the heavy-handed state aid issue. Local school districts, among others, should not find themselves bottled up and in the frustration condition they found themselves a few short years ago.

Off The Record

There has been some concern over the recent pictures of a bird labeled by the finder as a loon.

An East Stroudsburg man by the name of A. Moses comments the fact that we called the shot right in identifying the bird as a loon.

He was also gratified that The Daily Record was publishing news about birds that are stranded or found in such weather we have been having lately.

A Mrs. McDougald of the Newfoundland area called in that possibly the pictures taken by Paul Morton, of East Stroudsburg, depicted a grebe (whatever that is).

It certainly is nice to hear from folks who scan our terrain and know what they are talking about.

Incidentally we cannot blame our ace photographer Rod MacLeod on naming this last flyer of the sky.

By the way, a robin was seen yesterday in the vicinity of Olympic Reconditioning Co., East Stroudsburg. It was viewed chirping around the plant's office early yesterday morning.

The keggers were out en masse Monday. Seen in action were such dependables of the lanes as Warren Keiper, Dipe Lessig and Earl Deiter.

This threesome bowl in the higher brackets whenever they get on the alleys. Also seen topping the pins with pro ability were Steve Balick and Bob Henniger.

Art Frant has a letter from his son in Alaska and guess what the weather is in Anchorage these days.

The temperature has been hovering around the 50-above mark and rain instead of snow has been pelting the area.

So, by this message, don't bet that Alaska is all snow and no warmth.

Frantz, incidentally received a special birthday gift. However, the whales are the only ones who know about it!

Social Security Guide

Q. I am 66 and my wife is 63. I am going to be eligible for $120 per month when I retire. How much will my wife receive?

A. If you retire and your wife has not yet reached age 65 but decides to apply for her wife's benefits immediately there will be a small reduction in her benefit amount. The amount of this reduction depends on the number of months for which she is paid benefits before age 65.

If your benefit is $120 and your wife begins receiving payments the month she is 63 years old, her wife's benefit would be $50.

If she chose to wait until age 65, her benefit would be $60. We suggest she inquire with you; we will compute the amount of reduction, advise her of the various factors involved and she may then choose between filing immediately or waiting until later.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Unemployment Factors

Undoubtedly of equal importance to the questions raised by our seeping gold and our international relations, is the question of unemployment.

The responsibility for this condition is manifold and the blame will never be fixed altogether, but the cold fact is that unemployment is intolerable, that the social problems that arise from it are costly to any nation but are multiplied in ours because of our high standard of living.

And it leaves future generations morally antagonistic to the American way of life. Unemployment is not only an economic disease; it is a moral and social disease.

The Kennedy Administration has inherited about 5,000,000 unemployed with the prospect of more to come. It has inherited this condition from the Eisenhower Administration which ignored the rise of unemployment as a temporary, seasonal situation which would, in time, erase itself. That was the attitude of which pitched its unemployment problems into Herbert Hoover's lap.

Two clear factors and many not so clear factors appear in this problem. The two clear factors are:

1. Because of inflation and the high cost of labor and taxes the United States has outpriced itself in world markets and cannot even take competition in certain commodities in the American market, a condition which we have never faced before in our economic history;

2. The removal of some American industries to European, Asiatic and Caribbean markets has meant an export of jobs, which cumulatively produced the large unemployment figures.

Certain American industries have almost disappeared in this struggle against cheap, subsidized goods.

The American ceramic industry is almost gone; knitwear is going; clothing, both for men and women, is imperiled even typewriter parts are made abroad and brought back to this country which is their market. The electrical equipment industry, which has been basic in the United States, is fighting against contracts which go to our allies.

Again, as before World War II, Japan is our principal problem, with West Germany and Italy coming up as sharp competitors for first place as America's chief economic competitors.

Significantly, it is our allies, and important ones, which raise the issue of economic instability and it is also significant that these countries have benefited by our aid munificently.

The United States, politically, cannot afford to antagonize Japan, especially in view of the very strong Red Chinese anti-American propaganda among Japanese youth. The Japanese need the American market if they are to live at all because they have lost their national market which is mainland China.

The Japanese cannot raise their own food because only 20 per cent of their land is arable. Their historic ambition had been to occupy and hold China. From 1894 until 1945, their national effort had been to take Manchuria and Mongolia and make them part of Japan.

In this they failed as they failed in the substitute plan of building an empire in the South Seas. Actually, these countries have been divided between Soviet Russia and Red China.

Without markets, Japan can die and become a string of islands in the Pacific. On the other hand, the United States has developed into a profitable market for Japanese goods of all kinds.

Thus the Japanese have become increasingly dependent upon the United States, but as such things go, no one planned or integrated American-Japanese trade. Japan is producing goods which cost American workers their jobs and that raises many serious internal American political problems.

For instance, the American men and women's clothing industries, which have been internationalist and socialist in their leadership are now definitely frightened by the import of finished products from Japan, Italy and Hongkong.

American hats, caps, millinery industries are beginning to suffer. Unemployment in these industries would be socially severe as they exist in big cities.

It can be stated categorically that the United States will never again tolerate 10,000,000 unemployed. Statistics and percentages do not matter. The labor unions are becoming conscious of the peril but they have not yet related the subject to inflation for which the unions are partially responsible. That will come too.

Unless the Kennedy Administration meets the problem quickly and correctly, the big issue in the 1962 campaign will be unemployment — a social as well as an economic problem. The appointment of Arthur Goldberg to the position of Secretary of Labor is evidence of the seriousness of the problem.

Inside You And Yours

Dear Doctor

By Burton H. Fern, M. D. . . . Dear Doctor: Why doesn't modern sanitation eliminate flu, colds and other respiratory infections?

Mrs. C. G. Dear M. D.: Probably because you don't catch flu, colds and other respiratory infections from clogged drains or dirty sewers.

Also, too many people are too tough to be held down by ordinary colds. You can find these hearty souls spraying germs in jam-packed buses, crowded stores and even hospital corridors!

Dear Doctor: Our entire family is becoming foggy and forgetful. We haven't as yet installed the ventilation pipe from our gas water heater to the outside. Could this be making us foggy?

Mrs. F. F. Dear M. D.: Check with your gas company immediately! Without a pipe to exhaust fumes or draw in enough air to burn all the gas, deadly carbon monoxide gas may be floating through your apartment, making everyone drowsy. Even without the water heater, poor ventilation and overheating can give you that Rip Van Winkle feeling.

Dear Doctor: For over a year, doctors treated my husband for "bronchial trouble." Finally, they discovered cancer in his lung.

If a year of doctors, tests and X-rays can't discover cancer, how can it ever be detected in time?

Mrs. H. J. Dear M. D.: Rarely, a cancer will remain too tiny to show on X-ray pictures and yet spread on X-rays of the body. Even when the doctor looks directly at the cancer through a specially-lighted telescope, he can't see the microscopic tumor.

Researchers are trying to perfect an easy test to detect early cancer of the lung.

The air passages are rinsed with a special solution which is studied under the microscope. They are finding cancer cells even when the cancer itself is too tiny to be found in other ways.

A similar test has discovered many invisible cancers in the female organs.

Dear Doctor: My 60-year-old sister thinks she is going to have a baby.

Is this possible at her age? Mrs. D. M. Dear M. D.: Only her doctor can tell. But since (most, if not all) 60-year-old women have passed through the change of life, child-bearing would seem impossible.

A tumor mimics early pregnancy. And then again, a strong desire to bear a baby may bring on all symptoms of pregnancy — in men as well as in women!

WE SAT next to Nathan Straus, board chairman of Station WJCA (N.Y. City), at a recent luncheon of the Foreign Policy Association. Mr. Straus is the peppery small man who broke metropolitan radio-broadcasting tradition by coming out on the air for Mr. Kennedy during the recent eye-lash event. Broadcasters have been chary about editorializing too vehemently because their licenses are subject to Federal renewal every three years. Mr. Straus said that he was a frustrated newspaper man and just had to say his piece—regardless of the less three-year sword of Damocles.

Administration meets the problem quickly and correctly, the big issue in the 1962 campaign will be unemployment — a social as well as an economic problem. The appointment of Arthur Goldberg to the position of Secretary of Labor is evidence of the seriousness of the problem.

Without markets, Japan can die and become a string of islands in the Pacific. On the other hand, the United States has developed into a profitable market for Japanese goods of all kinds.

Thus the Japanese have become increasingly dependent upon the United States, but as such things go, no one planned or integrated American-Japanese trade. Japan is producing goods which cost American workers their jobs and that raises many serious internal American political problems.

For instance, the American men and women's clothing industries, which have been internationalist and socialist in their leadership are now definitely frightened by the import of finished products from Japan, Italy and Hongkong.

American hats, caps, millinery industries are beginning to suffer. Unemployment in these industries would be socially severe as they exist in big cities.

It can be stated categorically that the United States will never again tolerate 10,000,000 unemployed. Statistics and percentages do not matter. The labor unions are becoming conscious of the peril but they have not yet related the subject to inflation for which the unions are partially responsible. That will come too.

Big Patronage Pie

By Congressional Quarterly

Washington — The potential patronage available to the incoming Kennedy Administration amounts to about 6,000 federal jobs with a maximum annual combined salary of approximately $54,000,000.

Federal patronage, as such, has greatly diminished in relative importance since the high-riding days of the Jackson era, characterized by the slogan, "To the victor belong the spoils."

Nevertheless, the positions available to the modern federal administration are to top policy-making jobs, found in all departments and agencies. They represent the sinews of political control on a national level, the means through which a new group expressed its policy.

This cadre beholden to the Administration is a fraction of total civilian federal employees who number more than 2.3 million persons. However, the direction of government is determined by the small group at the top.

Exempt from Civil Service — Most federal civilian employees are hired under the U.S. Civil Service System, keystone to the federal employment program. The jobs which come under "patronage" are exempt from Civil Service or some other career service system.

Jobs exempt from career service systems are filled in various ways: by Presidential appointment, sometimes with and sometimes without Senate confirmation; by the agency or department where the jobs are located, or through the Civil Service System itself, which processes the applications.

While the modern trend in federal government employment has been to put more and more jobs within the Civil Service System, the Eisenhower Administration in 1954 placed a number of professional and advisory positions outside the System. These were put under "Schedule A," "B," and "C," and usually included professionals who could not easily be hired under a competitive system.

Actually, the 6,000 jobs estimated to be under patronage is a high-water mark. Many persons now holding those jobs have "status," even though the jobs themselves are exempt from Civil Service or some other career service. Their status is achieved because they worked in the job before it was exempt or because of military service.

It is more difficult to remove such persons but, once they leave, their jobs are available for refilling as patronage posts.

Congressional Quarterly arrived at the 6,000-job estimate on the basis of a December, 1960, report by the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee. The report listed all the civilian jobs in the Federal Government not covered by Civil Service or one of the other career merit systems run by agencies like the Atomic Energy Commission or the Foreign Service in the State Department.

Top Jobs — The most coveted patronage jobs in any administration, both for prestige and pay, are the policy-making and advisory posts filled directly by Presidential appointment. Appointees to some of these jobs must be confirmed by the Senate to some degree by the Senate while others are not, generally depending upon (1) whether the job was created by Congress or the department or agency involved, and (2) the degree of responsibility which it carries.

Appointees to all Cabinet and sub-Cabinet posts, for example, must be confirmed by the Senate. Salaries for these jobs run between $17,000 and $25,000 a year.

All told, there are 827 positions throughout the Federal Government which are filled by presidential appointment with Senate confirmation. In addition, there are 379 posts which are filled by Presidential appointment without Senate confirmation. The other patronage jobs generally are filled by the head of the department or agency in which the job is located.

Those who have status in their jobs generally will be allowed to retain their posts although the administrations change. The ones who might leave are in posts which are of a confidential or advisory nature, like an administrative assistant. Most of these people resign as a matter of courtesy when administrations change.

The George A. Michaels farm on the Shawnee road was purchased by Frank LeBar. The property was owned by American Water Works Construction Company of New York City.

An additional 12 inches of snow fell on Monroe County and highway workers were out working to keep the roads in the county open.

The churches in Monroe County announced they would take a special collection on Sunday. The money collected would be turned over to the "March of Dimes."

British ambassador, Lord Halifax, arrived in the United States on the new British battleship, King George V, to talk with President Roosevelt. The talks were held on the Presidential yacht in the Potomac River.

More than 45 workers at Götter Ribbon Mills went on strike in a wage dispute. The workers walked off their jobs shortly after arriving for work in the morning.

In fact sources close to the Administration indicate that the Governor is prepared to abide without excessive dispute by the will of the legislative branch — thus letting the political chips fall where they may.

As matters stand now the picture looks rosy on the heavy-handed state aid issue. Local school districts, among others, should not find themselves bottled up and in the frustration condition they found themselves a few short years ago.

Reason for this is that in neither the House nor the Senate do Republicans or Democrats alone have the required two-thirds votes within their own membership to override the gubernatorial veto.

However there is nothing at this time to even remotely indicate that Mr. Lawrence this session plans any heavy use of the veto pen.

Just Between Us — —

—By Bobby Westbrook

A lot of people have accidents. To the question: "Well, what happened to you?" they usually have very reasonable answers. They burned their hand on hot fat or shut their finger in a car door or are all lamed up from shoveling snow.

Those are answers that people accept without question. But when I have an accident, my answer usually leads only to more questions or a bewildered look.

What happened to me? Well, I got a splinter in my hand from the double bamboos and bumped my head putting the Christmas lights down the pump. That's concise enough but somehow it didn't seem very clear to anybody else.

The bamboos come from Hawaii and they are slit so they make a very satisfactory rattle when you hit them together in one of the ancient Hawaiian dances, which is what I was practicing when I got the splinter. Clear so far?

And the Christmas tree lights down the pump? Well, they weren't really down the pump, just in the pump housing. When the temperature got below — to the pump got so cold it wouldn't turn. The only extension cord we have that's long enough is the one with the outside Christmas lights on it—so I transferred them from the spruce tree in front to the pump in back—packed snow around the cracks—and they thawed out the pump all enough so it would work. And let the lid fall on my head in the process.

It's really quite practical and sensible — although it might be difficult to convince a casual visitor of that, still somehow dazed at the jack-o-lantern aspects of our pump housing glowing through the crevices all gold and green and red on the banked snow.

At that, I should be grateful. My next accident may be a lot easier to explain but a lot more painful—"I slipped on the ice"—or "when I applied the brakes the car skidded and—" But meanwhile if anybody has a needle, I ought to try to get this bamboo splinter out. Bamboos are so light that bamboo splinters are very hard to see.

MR. AND MRS. Walt Fossa who were celebrating an anniversary and their son, Wally, celebrating his eighth birthday.

Dinner Party Marks Birthday, Anniversary

A dinner party was held on Jan. 20 celebrating Mr. and Mrs. Walt Fossa's ninth wedding anniversary and the eighth birthday of their son, Wally at Pocomo Mountain Inn.

Guests included George Graff, Jack and Sally Ferrebee, George and Marge Masfield and Joni Dexter. Mr. Dexter had started from New York by train, choked on an apple skin, and had to be taken off to a hospital to have it removed.

After dinner, Mrs. Ferrebee sang "Can't Help Loving That Man of Mine" and Mrs. Dexter played the piano.

"New" Textile Industry Looking For Designers

By ANNE HEYWOOD

It used to be that you were either a true artist who starved to death because you were above the market place or a commercial hack who prostituted his talent for the sake of money.

Nowadays, top people in many fields, including the world of textile design, are encouraging a new breed — the true fine artist with the commercial know-how to recognize what is salable.

Perfect Marriage

This can be the perfect marriage between talent and training.

Kay Lewis, one of the outstanding names in the designing field, is doing more than her share to foster this much-needed combination.

An active designer and consultant herself, she also gives a course at the Art Students League in New York.

On-The-Spot Learning

In addition to teaching color, layout, draftsmanship, design and composition, Miss Lewis takes her students on field trips to machine print mills, screen printing plants and manufacturers' art departments and showrooms. The aspiring designer is thus acquainted with both the techniques and the demands of the market.

Because textile design is such an exciting and lucrative phase of the many-faceted textile industry, it seems paradoxical that there is still such a crying need for talented people, especially women.

Frustrated Artists

Frequently I receive letters from frustrated artists who, year after year, go on working unhappily in other areas simply because they have fallen for the cliché that the field of their choice is "all sewed up." What such people do not realize is that fields change, and no profession that serves the customer can afford to overlook new and vigorous talent.

Actually, this refrain is more often the defense of those who do not have sufficient ability to start off with, or those who refuse to pay the price in time and hard work that developing their talent entails—or of those who do not keep their finger on the pulse of the changing times. This last happens all too often. A girl trains in a certain kind of work and finds, after graduation, that opportunities for women are few and far between. With varying degrees of grumbling or philosophical cheer, she settles for a job in another field, meaning to continue her efforts to get into the work of her choice. But little by little she settles into the "rut field."

Magazines And Catalogues

The girl who studied textile design ten years ago and who, ever since, has been a discontented secretary in an oil company, would do well to look up the magazines in the field of design and the catalogues of the schools offering good courses. She would find that a good deal has happened in these past ten years and that, as Kay Lewis points out, textile design is a field wide open to women.

(If you are interested in this kind of work, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I'll be happy to send you the name of a magazine in the field.)

PTA Backs Elementary French

Learning that the Smithfield School had an opportunity to start a class in French in the fourth grade, but lacked funds for purchase of needed films and records, the Parent-Teachers Assn. voted at their meeting on Monday night to meet that expense amounting to $48.

The class is one of two experimental classes to be set up in the county this year, Morgan Hebard, president, explained. In providing the funds, the PTA stipulated that the action would not set a precedent for the PTA assuming the responsibilities of the school board in budgetary matters.

Kindergarten Panel

The meeting followed a panel discussion of "Kindergarten Objectives," with Mrs. Pauline Peterson, elementary supervising principal, as moderator and three kindergarten teachers taking part in the discussion.

The main objective, they stressed, is to prepare children to start work in first grade really ready for learning. Freeing children from the fear of the unknown through group and classroom experience, the development of muscular coordination, and the encouragement of creative activity are all part of this process, they explained.

Reading preparation is advanced through story telling and conversation, through handling books in library time, associating words with pictures, learning their names, and the use of phonics.

Numbers up to ten, colors, days of the week, months of the year, thermometers and weather charts, electricity, rain, steam prepare them for arithmetic and elementary science.

Creative activities through murals, clay, and other art medium, muscular control through educational toys, scissors, coloring and games, all prepare the child for learning.

One of the benefits is that children learn to listen and follow directions and to communicate.

Mrs. Peterson urged parents to visit the kindergarten classes at different periods of the year to observe the development of the child in the group living situations.

Refreshments were served after the meeting by Mrs. Wesley Crowther, Mrs. Fred Walters and Mrs. Charles Frailey.

Sock Hop Carnival At Stroud U.

Final plans for the Sock Hop and Carnival on Friday night at 7:30 at the Stroud Union High School gym were announced at the meeting of the Music Parents, sponsors, on Monday night.

The Stroud Union Band will play several numbers. Music for dancing will be provided by "The Flairs and The Continentals." The carnival section of the hop will feature many booths featuring games of skill including basketball, a bowling game, pounding a nail in a log and other features.

There will also be a restaurant selling pie, ice cream, pizza, coffee and soda.

Mrs. John Harl and Mrs. Paul Flory are co-chairman of the party.

The music Parents also discussed plans for their own "Down Memory Lane" record hop which will be limited to people 25 and over and which will feature records by such old-time favorites as Russ Morgan, Shep Fields, Guy Lombardo, Les Brown and the Dorsey Brothers. The dance will be held February 11 and admission will be according to age.

Two other important dates were announced at the meeting: the chorus concert to be held March 25 and the Band concert on May 6.

Grace Guild Has Talk By Mrs. Carr

Mrs. Joseph Carr, wife of the pastor of the Zion United Church of Christ, Stroudsburg, was the guest speaker at the January meeting of the Woman's Guild of Grace Lutheran Church. Her theme was "People, Lands and Churches."

There were 37 present for the meeting when plans were made for a birthday party to be held on Feb. 14. The public is invited to come, bringing a penny for each year of their age. They will be seated according to their birthdays at one of 12 tables, each decorated for a month of the year.

Also planned for Spring were a rummage sale and a supper.

Muscle-Building Meals To Serve Your Family

By Ida Bailey Allen

The Challenge of football, basketball and other games calls for peak body condition.

The college teams of our country by no means include all the athletes. High school and grade school teams, local club or business teams include hundreds of thousands of young men (and some girls) engaged in active sports.

Challenge To All

It is a challenge to keep bodies in condition for peak performance.

For information I turned to the expert authorities on physical training at Columbia University, who told me:

"Exercise is essential; Columbia athletes run three or four miles a day and add calisthenics to toughen muscle. While at training camp, they exercise before breakfast.

"Throughout the training season they must be in their rooms by 10:30 p.m. and asleep as soon after as studies permit.

"All meals are balanced for high protein, moderate fat, moderate carbohydrate content, cooked for easy digestibility with no fried foods or rich high calorie desserts."

Muscle-Building Menus

To help mothers of aspiring athletes prepare good-conditioning meals at home, our columns this week will feature whole-some, muscle - building menus used at the Columbia training table for football and basketball athletes, wrestlers, members of the crew, track team, handball and all those engaged in other competitive sports.

These menus may be modified to serve the average family.

Tomorrow's Meals from Columbia University Training Table

Breakfast: Prunes, stewed, 5 to a portion; choice hot cereal or any dry cereal with milk; 2 boiled 3 1/2-min. eggs; 2 pieces toast, well dried, 1 large piece of butter; hot tea or coffee with milk.

Notes: Toast is well dried in oven for greater digestibility. Butter is the equivalent of 2 pats.

A choice of tea or coffee is served. Tea only is provided for luncheon or dinner.

Family Breakfast: "As is" for active men of athletic boys; for the average person, a choice

Planned Parenthood Plans 25th Anniversary Here

Plans for the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Planned Parenthood Clinic in Monroe County were launched at the January meeting of the board held at the home of Mrs. John B. Kingsley.

Donna Marie Kuschner

Party Held For Donna Kuschner On 4th Birthday

Donna Marie Kuschner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Kuschner of Normal St., East Stroudsburg, celebrated her fourth birthday with a party at her home. The room was decorated with streamers and balloons and the cake motif was a little girl's face.

Refreshments and favors were served to Ellen Finan, Patricia Booth, Barbara Henry, Wilma Cramer, Ruthie Bush, Marlene Woodrow, Mrs. Dorinda Spagnola, Mrs. Walter Bowman, Kathleen, Mary and David Kuschner. Also invited were Christine Capone and Cheryl Ann Tallada.

Five new members were welcomed to the board: Mrs. Daniel W. Bythewood, Mrs. James T. Kitson, Mrs. Chester S. Miller, Mrs. William Schiebel and Mrs. William W. Seeley, all of them have qualified for board membership by serving in the weekly clinic held at 519 Sarah St., Stroudsburg.

The anniversary committee will report at the meeting on March 22. At that time, too, final plans will be announced for the fund campaign to begin the last part of February. The additional funds are necessary to supplement the small fees collected at the clinic. Clinic fees are based upon the patient's ability to pay and no one desiring the service is turned away because of lack of funds. The association operates on a small budget and for the year 1960, during which 328 patients visited the center, reported a balance of $247.

Plans were made to purchase uniforms for clinic workers, and additional office and medical equipment and the executive committee was authorized to make the final decisions. Mrs. Kingsley is chairman of the committee which includes, Mrs. Robert Hellmann, president; Mrs. R. Frederick Jones, vice president; Mrs. Russell Imbt, treasurer; Mrs. R. D. Donaldson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Elton J. Dening, recording secretary; Mrs. Frank L. Patterson, campaign chairman; and Dr. Mary Hunsicker, clinician.

Mrs. Patterson, who was attending a National Affiliates Meeting in New York City, called in an on-the-spot report of that meeting. Letters concerning the progress of the local unit were read from William V. Gt, national director of Planned Parenthood Federation; Mrs. Betty Gillespie, chairman, Affiliates committee; and Frederick Jaffe, assistant director of information and education.

In other business, the board read and approved amendments to the by-laws and constitution prepared by Mrs. Jesse Flory. It was reported that Mrs. Chester Miller is assisting Mrs. R. Kiefer in the secretarial work of notifying patients of the date for their yearly checkups.

A preview of the moving picture "From Generation to Generation" is being arranged for the group and others interested by Thomas Knepp, chairman of information and education for the organization.

Present at the meeting were Mrs. Dening, Mrs. Donaldson, Mrs. Hellmann, Mrs. Imbt, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Kingsley, Mr. Knepp, Mrs. Bythewood, Mrs. Kitson, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Schiebel, Mrs. Seeley, Dr. Hunsicker, Rev. John A. Bollier and Rev. Charles A. Park.

The Ladies Independent Order of Reindeer degree team will meet tonight at 8 at the home of Mrs. Harry Van Why, 562 North Courtland St., East Stroudsburg.

County's Church Women Announce Dinner Plans

The annual dinner meeting of the Monroe County Council of United Church Women will be held on Tuesday, Jan. 31, at 6:15 at the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

Miss Mary Sue Strine will give a dramatic reading of James Weldon Johnson's "Creation" and Mrs. Raymond A. Roberts will be soloist.

"Wider Grows the Kingdom" a film strip commemorating the 755th anniversary of the World Day of Prayer will also be shown.

Mrs. Roger Stimson will preside at the business meeting when there will be election of officers and annual reports of committees.

Reservations and money for the dinner will be collected by the individual societies and sent to Mrs. Frank Tolman at the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church by Thursday of this week.

MYL Rally Emphasizes Missions

Lake Ariel: "Missions" is a sharing work," the Rev. Donald Henry, West Indian Methodist minister told members of the Pocono Sub-district Youth Fellowship during a Mission Emphasis Rally at the Methodist Church Sunday night.

"A missionary isn't giving something that is his," he pointed out. "He is giving something that is God's."

The Rev. Mr. Henry, who was introduced by the Rev. Arthur Campney, pastor of the South Sterling Charge, illustrated his talk with slides of the West Indies. He noted that "every mission field has a mission field," and said that while the West Indies is a mission field of the United States and other countries, the ministers of the islands have their own mission field in Panama among the Indians.

Among the pictures shown was a church built with eight sides, that was hurricane-proof.

A special student studying for his master's degree in Sacred Theology at Drew University, the Rev. Mr. Henry has completed fourteen years as a minister in the West Indies, where he was born. He is a graduate of Calwood seminary, Jamaica, and the University of London.

The rally at Lake Ariel was opened by a welcome from Barbara Storck, of Moscow, president of the Sub-district. The worship service was led by Donna Bartleson, of South Sterling, who gave the message, "The Lord's Prayer," and by Judy Wreski, of Gouldsboro, who gave the call to worship, read the Scripture lesson, and led the group in prayer.

The Wyckoff Shopper

"The Friendly Store"
A.B. Wyckoff
STROUSBURG, PA.

Walter Wyckoff tells me the Ice Follies of '61 is really a remarkable show, entirely worthy of being the Silver Jubilee production. Walt and Migisie accompanied seventy of our Monroe Countians to New York Saturday on the next to final day of the stay at Madison Square Garden, and was pleasantly surprised to meet Richard Dwyer chatting in the lobby with friends from Canada.

"He asked about you," Walter said, "and I told him you were in the midst of moving and had been unable to come... but really, Madalyn, you should try to catch up with the show somewhere along its route and see it. It's terrific, and Dick certainly can skate."

Ina Bauer, the little German champion, also caught Walter's eye, and he says the Stroudsburg excursionists were in an excellent position to see everyone. "I could have reached out and touched their sequins," Walter says, "and Migisie probably counted all their curls."

Before the show Walt took a picture of Dick with Migisie... and on Monday the two of us tried to telephone him at the Hotel Manhattan (a repeat of my efforts three times Friday) but he had just checked out for Syracuse. Despite my disappointment at missing the show and a renewal of acquaintance, it's nice to know that so many of our Wyckoff customers were able to attend, and enjoyed themselves so thoroughly.

I'm really a homebody at heart, and if I didn't have the need to work, I'm sure I wouldn't be in an office every day. Some days, perhaps—but others I'd spend puttering around a kitchen, or rearranging the living room. I've found, for instance, that a staircase covered with vinyl Kwik Kover is a wonderful place for books—it will hold approximately 300. And I am often amazed at how much pleasure I derive from just seeing a new pleated edging on a tiny kitchen shelf, or a fresh coat of Sears' paint on a beat-up piece of furniture. In line with moving, I've been haunting all of our housewares departments here at Wyckoff's, and it's gratifying to see how much beauty one can buy for just a few cents a yard. You'll find pleated edging for shelves etc., in our floor covering department, along with the aforementioned Kwik Kover—and whether you're changing residence or just freshening up for Spring, you'll find that for a very little, they work a lot of magic.

Betty LaBarre asks me to remind you that still another shipment of Tiki charms has arrived in our jewelry department. If all the women now wearing them are in control of "the wind, the sea and the one they desire," the poor men around these parts must have been reduced to Casper Milquetoasts long since. One thing I'll say—if women want to control the winds, it would be nice if they'd do a better job on these snowy days and not permit our rural roads to drift shut the way they've been doing... In our jewelry department we also have some of the wooden beads (from Italy, I think) that women will be wearing this Spring and Summer. I remember a time when wooden beads came in bright colors on long strings and were for one purpose only—an infant's teething... On my last visit to our beauty salon, Mary Brong began sniping away with the scissors, and before I knew it I emerged with something akin to Princess Margaret's "chrysanthemum bob." A few of the people whose opinions count with me, seem to like it—so it may remain this way for a while. Anyway, here's one person who won't be copying the new "Jackie Kennedy Look." The only similarity between the elegant young Mrs. Kennedy and me is that we're both women... Which reminds me that now is the time to make an appointment for your Spring permanents. Seems to me we're always busy in our beauty salon.

Here's Design That Helps Make New Home Outstanding

HERE'S a design that embodies all those fundamental elements that go into making a new home outstanding. Comfort is provided through generous well-proportioned rooms. Conveniences are offered through carefully planned room positioning and an abundance of storage facilities.

There is, however, an all-important difference. This is a two-family dwelling.

From the outside, it appears to be an attractive, custom styled home, set off by a pleasing combination of brick and field stone. A hint of ranch styling is reflected in the near grade front porch, that extends along the front. Protection is afforded by the roof extension.

Inside, a brief vestibule common to both units functions as the interior pivot point. The smaller of the two units occupies the left wing and is connected to the vestibule by a hallway.

Fore-position is held by a nicely proportioned living room. Excellent daylighting is a feature brought in through the three section front window and a smaller unit at the side.

Kitchen cabinets and counters form a step-saving "L" with plenty of free area for an eating space. Convenient to the kitchen is the side entrance and basement stairway.

Cross Circulation

Good cross circulation and liberal dimensions add to the livableness of the bedroom. The bath is only steps away and has a built-in vanity as a bonus feature.

Possessing two bedrooms, dining room and well proportioned living room, the second unit is much larger than the first.

A distinctive ledge rock fireplace highlights the living room. Two flanking windows bring in an abundance of cheery daylighting. There's also plenty of uninterrupted wall space for easy furniture positioning. The dining "L" provides a front-to-back sweep. Separating the two rooms in an impressive archway.

Plenty of cupboards and cabinets greets the homemaker. With farm house spaciousness, the kitchen has plenty of room for working centers plus space for a convenient breakfast nook.

Access To Basement

Access to the basement is in the kitchen as well as from the rear door.

Both bedrooms have master-size dimensions and good cross ventilation. The bath is located between the two sleeping rooms.

Flammable Roofing Seen Troubled By Flying Sparks

FLYING sparks on roofs caused more than 62,000 serious fires in the U. S. in the five-year period of 1955-59, resulting in a total of nearly $40,000,000 damages.

The National Fire Protection Association, in compiling the above figures, says the worst tragedy of these fires is that practically all of them could have been prevented with fire-resistant roofing material.

The real danger of flying sparks is that they come from so many sources common to every neighborhood and community — a neighbor's trash burner, a brush fire, incinerators, fireplaces, fire in a nearby home, a defective furnace, and many others.

Firemen Puzzled

Firemen who have fought roof fires caused by flying sparks say they never can understand why homeowners are willing to gamble with combustible roofs when fire-resistant roofing — such as asphalt shingles — is so readily available.

Asphalt shingle gets additional fire-resistant qualities from millions of rock granules embedded in the surface of the waterproof asphalt. These tough granules make sparks and flaming brands harmless to the roof and the rest of the house.

Unlike other types of fire-resistant roofing, asphalt shingles can be applied quickly and efficiently by roofers everywhere, resulting in low application costs. They also can be applied directly over old roofing. This saves the mess and extra labor of removing the old material, and provides a measure of protection in case of rain while the new roof is being applied.

Insurance Costs Less

Of further importance to the homeowner is the fact that fire insurance premiums may be lower on houses with asphalt shingle roofs than on homes roofed with flammable materials.

Another home-building material that helps make a house more resistant to fire is mineral wool insulation. This efficient insulation is made from molten glass or slag spun into millions of fireproof fibers.

Installed Easily

Properly installed in walls, ceilings and floors of a home, mineral wool not only provides more year around comfort and heating economy, but acts as a fire block, preventing flames from burning through from one surface to another, and keeping the fire from shooting up through wall spaces.

Fireproof mineral wool can be installed in walls, ceilings, and floors of existing homes through a special pneumatic process that forces insulation into cracks, corners, and around wires and pipes. In new homes, batts or blankets of mineral wool generally are installed during construction.

The National Fire Protection Association points out that most home fires are avoidable through such things as fire-resistant building materials, regular cleanup of basements, attics, and garages, and an awareness by all members of the family of the hazards of fire.

Beauty Bar Worthy, Acceptable Gift

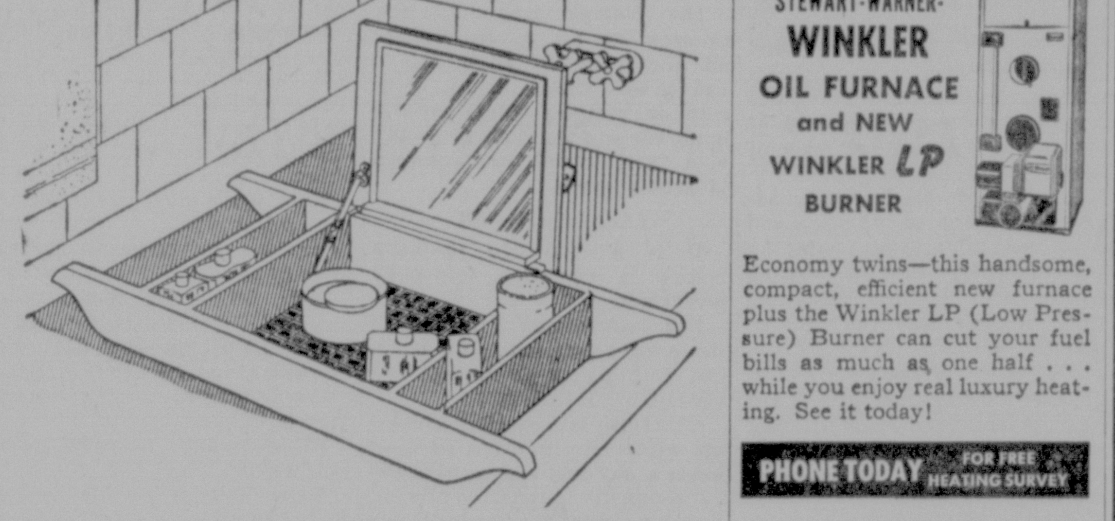

MOST doctors agree that many of today's stresses and strains could be lessened and eliminated if we took time to do something about them. While few of us can afford to take a fast boat or plane to some far away place, we can take a bath almost as often as we wish. Soaking in a tub of warm water is highly recommended since it provides a quick way of relieving tensions.

While some women may feel guilty if they spend too much time in a tub, this beauty bar was designed to not only bring back the lost art of tubbing, but also provide space for lotions and creams so milady can apply beauty aids while soothing ruffled nerves.

The full size pattern offered below takes all the mystery out of building this beauty bar. It tells what material to buy and where each is used. Perforated aluminum is used on the bottom to permit water to run through.

This beauty bar makes a most unusual and acceptable gift.

Send 50c in coin, check or money order for Bathtub Beauty Bar, Pattern No. 327 to The Daily Record, P. O. Box 215, Pleasantville, New York. Send additional 35c for 64 page catalog illustrating over 300 other home improvement and gift items. Please add 25c for First Class Mail.

with modern architecture. Deep-toned asphalt shingles go well with traditional architecture and help make a tall house look lower and longer.

3. Asphalt shingles provide a roof that is free of harsh glare. Millions of rock granules embedded in the surface of the asphalt diffuse sunlight, giving the roof a rich, soft texture that resists weather like granite.

4. Asphalt shingles are low in applied cost. Any qualified roofer can apply them quickly and efficiently without waste or trouble.

5. Many years of actual use, plus laboratory research, have proved that asphalt shingles are waterproof and durable. Scientific studies lead to continuing improvements in materials and manufacturing methods.

6. Asphalt shingles are fire resistant.

Save A Deer.

CANADENSIS — Approximately 25 sportsmen organized a campaign to feed deer herds in Barrett Township during a meeting at Locher's here Monday.

Canisters will be distributed to business places Wednesday. They carry the slogan, "A Dollar Will

The group has already purchased on credit 50 bales of second and third growth clover and alfalfa. Persons desiring to do so may secure the feed at Russ Dann's here or at the Sports Shop in Mountainhome. Persons taking food will be required to register so that the group will know where in the woods the feed is being placed.

Also Donated

The Delaware District of Forest Fire Crew 34 has offered the use of its truck to reach otherwise inaccessible places and Explorer Scouts will aid in the distribution. Trucks and other transportation have also been donated. The group emphasized that all contributions of money will be used for feed.

Frank Meinweiser and Whit Price are co-chairman of the organization, with Dann as Treasurer, Wayne Price as secretary, and Carl Brown in charge of distribution.

Persons knowing of deer herds in need of help may contact Edward Caprioli, Henry Oppelt, Earl Thomas, Roy Britton, Ben Zarvel, William Land, Kenneth Brush, John Kerz, Roger Lindsey, Claude Heckman and Russell Brush.

Price will contact hotels, resort and hunting clubs for assistance.

Urges Help

The group has also telegraphed U.S. Rep. Francis E. Walter, urging his help in feeding all deer in Monroe County.

John Spencer of Mt. Pocono, district game protector, told the group he has already found several deer dead of starvation.

"If conditions continue as expected for the next two months, all deer born last Spring will be dead," Spencer said.

Contributions to the feed fund may be sent to Food for the Deer, in care of Dann.

HUNGRY DEER—Hardly waiting for its benefactors to leave, Barrett Township deer hastens toward bales of feed distributed by sportsman's group which is endeavoring to keep deer herd from starving following last week's heavy snow.

2 Lives Are Lost In Fire

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Fire swept a brick home in suburban Wilkensburg yesterday with the loss of two lives.

The victims were Harry Meyers, 78, and his daughter, Betty Jane Stein, 35.

The owner of the three-story home, Mrs. Carolyn Johnson, fled from her first-floor apartment unharmed.

Meyers and his daughter lived on the second floor. The daughter was found under a pile of debris from a third-floor cave-in. Meyers was found in a hallway.

Firemen, who estimated damage between $7,000 and $8,000, said the cause has not been determined yet. The second and third floors received extensive damage.

Eagles Win 58-28

Nazareth Dumps Eastburg Back Into L-N Loop Cellar

EAST Stroudsburg High School, which finished last in the first half of the Lehigh-Northampton league basketball race, found no relief in the second half, as Nazareth dumped the Cavaliers 58-28 at East Stroudsburg last night.

It was the 12th straight loss this year for the winless Cavaliers, nine of them league affairs. And it was the second time this season that East Stroudsburg has been held to less than 30 points.

The last time Nazareth played East Stroudsburg it won 63-30.

Trail Early
The Cavaliers trailed 6-0 early in the game and were never able to get closer than six points in the game.

At the end of the first period the Eagles had an 18-3 edge and by halftime it was 33-13.

Only in the last period, were the Cavaliers able to hit for double figures and none of the Cavaliers finished the game with more than eight points.

Fellman High
Jack Fellman led East Stroudsburg with eight points. Glen Kane followed with seven, Don Wescott had six, Harold Myers, five and Brian Farris, two to account for the Cavalier point total.

Nazareth put eight men in the scoring column, three of them in double figures. Lynn Rothrock hit for 13, Bob Freeman, 12 and Ron Gold 10.

The Cavaliers managed only eight field goals and added 12 of 21 free throws.

Nazareth hit 22 field goals and collected a creditable 14 of 19 free throws.

Nazareth won the junior varsity game also, 48-43.

Vikings To Pay $15,611 Per Player

Py JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League Tuesday decided on a formula to stock the new Minnesota franchise — each team except Dallas to make a list of eight players, three to be chosen by the Vikings.

The Vikings will pay a total of $350,000 to the other NFL clubs for the players, about $15,611 a man.

Last year, when Dallas was added to the league, the club was picked from a list of 11 players from each of the other teams. But Commissioner Pete Rozelle pointed out that Dallas did not participate in the draft.

Have Shaw
The Vikings already have picked up 20 players (not signed yet) in the draft and have obtained quarterback George Shaw from the New York Giants.

The league also voted that players who were injured late last season must be included on the regular roster. Heretofore, injured players were placed on the reserve list.

The clubs will have to have their lists in by noon (EST) Wednesday, and the Vikings will have until noon Thursday to make their selections.

Houk Says Yanks Have Top AL Pitching Staff

By Curt Prins
Daily Record
Sports Editor

SCRANTON — Ralph Houk, new manager of the New York Yankees, feels his team has the best pitching staff in the American League.

"The Yankee pitchers led the league in earned run average last year," said Houk at a press, radio and TV luncheon Tuesday, "and that's the most important department — keeping runs from crossing the plate."

More than 75 people attending the affair, one of four to be held this week in Yankee "fringe" cities, Monday the touring Yankee caravan of Houk, Moose Skowron, coach Wally Moses, new general manager Roy Hamey, publicity director Bob Fishel and other club officials, were in Albany. Tomorrow the group moves to New Haven.

Small Albany Group
"We only had about 30 people for our party in Albany," said Fishel "and this overflow crowd today surprised us."

Fishel explained that the reason for the meeting was to introduce the "new" Yankee club to the press-radio and TV people outside of New York City.

"We decided it would be easier for the Yankees to come to you," said Fishel, "than for you to try to get to New York."

Houk, who replaced Casey Stengel in October as Yankee manager, spent about 10 minutes discussing his pitchers.

"Art Ditmar had a tough time in the World Series," said Houk "but you don't judge a pitcher on two Series games. I am sure to Pirates feel Bob Friend is a good pitcher, even though he had a bad Series."

After a brief run down on most of the Yankee hurlers, Houk dealt in detail on Bob Turley and Ryne Duren.

Duren To Start
"Turley did not have as bad a year as everyone thought," he said. "He had a 9-3 mark and a 3.28 earned run average."

"Of the 24 games Bob started, we won 21, which shows that he was taken out when the score was fairly close or lifted for a pinch-hitter."

Houk plans to make a starter out of Ryne Duren, the Yank's strong armed, weak-eyed, right hander, who had a great year in 1959 but won only three games last year.

"Duren can throw the ball harder than anyone in our league," said Houk "and if he gets it over the plate, he's hard to hit. I'm going to make a starting pitcher out of him in the spring and if he can show me anything, he'll remain a starter."

Houk listed his tentative starting line-up for the Yank's April 11 opener with the Minnesota Twins.

It will be Skowron (still unsigned) at first. Bobby Richardson at second; Tony Kubek "the best shortstop in the American League," at short and Cletis Boyer, at third base.

In the outfield, Houk will have Roger Maris, Mickey Mantle and Hector Lopez.

Not Bad Fielder
"Hector is not as bad a fielder as people think," offered Houk. "I only recall two games that he lost for us because of his fielding. He won many games with his bat, though."

Houk added that Lopez rarely hits into a double play or strikes out.

"He hit into two double plays in one Series game," said Houk. "so maybe he'll make up for it by going two months at the beginning of the season without hitting into one."

Houk did not name a starting catcher.

"We have three great catchers," said Houk, "and I don't plan to trade any one of them, unless I can make a great deal."

"We wanted Johnny Antonelli of the Giants," said Houk, "but they wanted Elston Howard. That's not a good deal."

The new Yankee boss explained that his catchers could play more than one position and will help the team in case of injuries.

Yogi At Third
"Berra, can play the outfield and third base if he has to," said Houk. Howard and Blanchard can play either first base or the outfield.

One of the writers at the gathering recalled an incident last spring in the Yank's St. Petersburg training camp, when Yogi was getting a third base trial.

Yogi made a fantastic stop to start a double play and when it was over, Stengel, who was coaching at first base, ran over to George Weiss (then Yank general manager) and yelled: "Hey Weiss, has Yogi signed a contract yet?"

"Yes," was Weiss' reply.

"It's a good thing, after that damn play, he'd want a million bucks."

H-Town Tops Bangor On Short 3rd

BANGOR — Bangor High School, held to four points in the third period, dropped a 71-59 loss to Hellertown last night in the opening round of the Lehigh-Northampton League second half.

The Slaters trailed by only six points at the half but were down by 16 at the end of three quarters. The Panthers tossed in 14 points in the third frame.

Bangor staged a 32-point closing quarter but Hellertown stayed well in front with a 28 point period of its own.

Doug Heard was high for the Slaters with 20 points and Jim Brown, back in the line-up after suffering a slight concussion two weeks ago, scored 19.

Joe Kelchner led Hellertown with 32 points and Al Holecum added 15.

the game, Stroud Union, which fought back from a 10-point, first period deficit, trailed by only four points, 48-44. But the Mountaineers managed only five more points in the game, while Emmaus reeled off 14.

The Mounties put nine men in the scoring column but only two of them, Mike McMahon and John Baylor hit for double figures.

McMahon Gets 14

McMahon collected 14 points on five field goals and four free throws and Baylor had 12 points, coming on four field goals and four foul shots.

The Mounties might have been able to stay in the game if they had produced a better shooting percentage in the second half. Stroud Union had 18 field goals for the game but managed only five of them in the second half. The Mounties attempted 25 shots in the final two periods. Stroud Union had particular trouble hitting its shots from the free throw lane area.

George Schantzenbach was the high man for Emmaus, which ended the league's first half with a 4-8 mark, with 17 points.

It was the six straight loss in league play for Stroud Union, which won only one league game and finished in last place in the eight-team loop. The Mounties overall record is 3-9.

Emmaus grabbed the junior varsity game also, 63-36.

Dear Abby

Just Like A Man

Dear Abby: I am a 74-year-old man who is making his home at an Old People's Residence. I am acquainted with a very refined and pleasant widow here. Since we are both alone, I think it would be a good thing for both of us if we teamed up. I am beyond the age where a man thinks with his heart, so I am thinking with my head. In other words, I want to marry this woman so I'll have someone to take care of me in case I get sick. What do you think?

"FAR-SIGHTED"

Dear "Far-Sighted": You are not "farsighted" enough. What if SHE gets sick?

Dear Abby: Three months after my marriage, I saw my mother-in-law slip an airmail letter to my husband. Naturally I was curious, but pretended not to notice. The next day I found the letter in the pocket of his suit, so I read it. It was from an old girl friend of his. It was very mushy and I could tell from her letter she didn't know George was married. Her address was on the envelope, so I wrote her a nice friendly letter, telling her George and I were married and I hoped we could be friends.

A week later George came storming into the house with a letter from this girl. He said I had no business writing to her and telling her he was married, etc. I think I was right. He still thinks I was wrong. We'd like an outsider's opinion.

"INSIDER"

Dear "Insider": Your motives were mischievous and you know it. You should have been on the up and up; and having discovered the letter in your husband's pocket, handed it to him, unread.

Dear Abby: I have an unusual problem. We live in a suburban town and I entertain a lot. When I have guests, I always try to look my best. I put on my foundation garment, wear my best dress and make up my face. When my guests come, they say, "What are you all dolled up for?" This makes me feel foolish. THEY are all dressed up, so why shouldn't I be dressed up? I have gone to homes where the hostess looks a mess. She's either in slacks or jeans or looks just plain sloppy. Am I wrong to want to look my best? Why don't more hostesses try to look better?

"ALL DOLLED UP"

Dear All: Three cheers for you! When a hostess looks her best, it's a compliment to her guests. When she's careless or sloppy—it's an insult. Give 'UP! Yes, I can refer you to an excellent source of help. His name is God. And He is always available.

N. Carolina Asks Out Of Tournament

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—The Atlantic Coast Conference Tuesday granted the University of North Carolina permission to withdraw from this year's championship basketball tournament. The ACC left the door open for a change of heart by the university with the statement that "such withdrawal is not mandatory."

Chancellor William B. Aycock of the University of North Carolina could not be reached immediately for comment. Aycock Monday dispatched notice to ACC Commissioner Jim Weaver here that the university wished to drop out of the tournament because it was under one-year NCAA probation and ineligible to play for the national title.

Aycock said "in the interest of fair play" a team ineligible to play for the NCAA title should not compete against teams with a chance to try for the national title.

The North Carolina team, fourth ranked nationally, has a 12-2 record and has won its last 10 games.

French Race Driver Killed

MONTEILMAR, France (AP)—Georges Chauvet was killed and his co-driver, Marin Couderc, was injured seriously in a car accident Monday night as they headed home after withdrawing from the Monte Carlo Auto Rally.

They were riding in a car driven by Ramond Lafont, 38, who also was killed. The car left the road and hit a tree as they returned to their homes.

Yank Athletes Watched Closely

NEW YORK (AP)—The American sports competitor often attracts more attention overseas than our diplomats, and so we should be very careful about our manners, Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) said Tuesday night.

"We may be able to absorb a flareup of bad sportsmanship in an event here, but the bad loser overseas is a heavy liability to all Americans," the senator added in an address prepared for delivery to the Metropolitan Golf Writers Association.

Symington declared there is no better ground of common interest than the field of sports for winning friends in other countries, and he added:

"Sports not only provide a means for friendly contact with people on the other side of the Iron Curtain, they also offer us a way to cement friendships at the people-to-people level with the companion countries of the free world."

Ohio State Still Holds Hoop Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio State faces two big hurdles in its bid for a perfect season and the unchallenged No. 1 position in the Associated Press major college basketball poll.

The Buckeyes play Purdue and that team's high-scoring ace, Terry Dischinger, Saturday at Columbus. They take on Iowa, the country's sixth ranked team, on Feb. 18.

These appear the only really dangerous obstacles in the remaining 11 games on the Ohio State schedule. If they hurdle them, the Buckeyes should finish the campaign with 24 straight victories and another national championship.

The latest weekly poll of a special panel of sports writers and broadcasters made Ohio State a unanimous No. 1 choice for the sixth straight week.

St. Bonaventure held second place, followed by Bradley, North Carolina, Duke, Iowa, St. John's, and Purdue.

In the Ohio State-Purdue clash Saturday afternoon before a regional television audience, the spotlight will be on the individual scoring duel between Purdue's Dischinger and his Olympic teammate, All America Jerry Lucas of Ohio State.

Dischinger is the Big Ten scoring leader with an average of 26.8 points a game. Lucas is in close pursuit with 26.2 points average.

Some of the edge was taken off the game when Northwestern upset Purdue Monday night 64-62. Ohio State previously beat Northwestern 79-45.

Southern Cal (12-2) and Purdue (9-3) are newcomers to the top ten. DePaul, which lost twice last week, and Kansas State, beaten by Kansas, dropped out.

The leaders, with won-lost records through Saturday and first place votes in parentheses (points on 10-9-8, etc., basis):

1. Ohio State (36) (13-0) 360
2. St. Bonaventure (14-1) 304
3. Bradley (13-1) 283
4. North Carolina (12-2) 218
5. Duke (12-1) 194
6. Iowa (12-1) 115
7. St. John's (10-2) 136
8. Louisville (14-2) 95
9. Southern California (12-2) 39
10. Purdue (9-3) 37

Others receiving votes: Kansas, UCLA, Kansas State, Mississippi State, Indiana, DePaul, Memphis State, Cincinnati, California, Vanderbilt, Utah, West Virginia, Xavier (Ohio), Wichita, Auburn, Kentucky, Wake Forest.

Aussie Tournery Near Shambles

MELBOURNE (AP)—The Australian National Tennis Championships became a shambles Tuesday with the defeat of fourth-seeded Bob Hewitt and the possible withdrawal of defending champion Rod Laver.

Laver said he doubts he can continue because of a wrist injury suffered in a fall Monday.

Hewitt, a member of the Australian Davis Cup squad, was beaten by Christian Kuhnke, left-handed West German star, 6-1, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3. Bob Mark, another Aussie Davis Cup player, withdrew Monday to take off for South Africa.

With Neale Fraser also not playing, Roy Emerson is the lone member of the Australian Davis Cup squad to gain the quarter-finals. The Queenslander defeated Bob Kearney 6-1, 6-2, 9-7.

Triple A Loop Wants Syracuse

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—The International League Tuesday asked Syracuse to return to the Class AAA baseball circuit, proposing to shift the Montreal franchise here.

Tommy Richardson, league president, presented the plan in a closed-door meeting with city officials. The city is expected to make a decision before the International holds its annual meeting in New York Saturday.

The plan reportedly calls for a community-owned club, similar to those which have been successful in Buffalo and Rochester.

Ruth's Mark Safe

By MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writer

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Roger Maris, the most valuable player in the American League in 1960, thinks Babe Ruth's home run record is safe despite the eight extra games on the schedule this year.

"Nobody will touch it," said the New York Yankee outfielder, a guest at the Rochester Press and Radio Club dinner. "Look up the records and you'll see that it's a rare year when anybody hits 50 homers, let alone 60 as Ruth hit in 1927."

Records Check

Maris was right, too. Since 1938 when Hank Greenberg hit 58, the only man to hit 50 or more in the American League was Mickey Mantle who got 52 in 1956. In the National League Ralph Kiner topped 50 twice in that period (1947 and 1949). Johnny Mize also did it in 1947 and Willie Mays in 1955.

The American League will play 162 games this year, instead of the normal 154 because of the addition of new franchises in Washington and Los Angeles.

"The pitching is so tough and the defense is so good that you are doing pretty good if you hit 280 and get your share of home runs," said Maris who batted .283, hit 29 homers (second to Mantle) and led the league with 112 runs batted in.

Negro Stars Want Same Camp Rights

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago's American said Monday Negro major league baseball players suffer encumbrance, humiliation and indignities at Southern training camps and are growing more resentful.

In a copyrighted article Wendell Smith wrote the Negro player who is accepted as a first class citizen in the regular season is tired of being a second class citizen in spring training.

Want Equality

Smith added that one outstanding Negro player told him recently: "We think we should enjoy equality the year around and intend to get it. We are tired of staying in flop houses and eating in second rate restaurants during spring training. If we are good enough to play with a team, then we should be good enough to share the same facilities and accommodations as the other players both spring and summer."

Britons Ask Payment For Lost Time

LONDON (AP)—A strong move to permit amateur athletes payment for loss of wages from a regular job is expected to be launched at a meeting of the International Amateur Athletic Federation in June.

Dr. Max Danz, a German member of the International Olympic Committee, is reported ready to ask the federation to "legalize broken time payments to athletes."

The German can expect plenty of support from other nations pestered by expense problems from the athletes.

Not Cricket

"It is not right for an amateur to have to sacrifice his pay to race for his country," said Brian Hewson of Britain, the reigning European 1,500-meter champion. "My salary is never cut when I run abroad, but I feel sorry for the fellows who have lost their wages."

Britain proposed in 1952 that broken-time payments should be allowed to meet special hardship cases. The proposal was turned down.

Now it's not certain the British will support such a proposal, although the athletes themselves appear to be ready to back it.

K. C. Trades 2 For 5 Players

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics Tuesday traded outfielders Russ Snyder and Whitely Herzog to the Baltimore Orioles for five players.

The A's got catcher Clint Courtney, outfielder Al Pilarcik, first baseman Bob Boyd, pitcher Jim Archer and infielder Wayne Causey.

Announcing his first player deal since coming to the Athletics as general manager from Cleveland this month, Frank Lane said it was a straight player trade with no money involved.

The swap puts "the A's closer to having a respectable roster to open spring training," Lane said.

Fusia Gets Post

AMHERST, Mass. (AP)—Vic Fusia, backfield coach at University of Pittsburgh, Monday was named head football coach at the University of Massachusetts, Athletic Director Warren McGuirk announced. Fusia has a three-year contract as successor to Chuck Studley who took a similar job at Cincinnati.
